Venice, Sept. 18. N. S.

ON Saturday laſt the Senate had under their Conſideration, a Letter from the Venetian Reſident at Milan, wherein he acquaints them, that the King of Spain, had reſolv'd to recall Prince Hercolani, and order him to leave this Place without demanding an Audience, and that his Catholick Majeſty would likewiſe direct the Miniſters of this State, to depart from Vienna, Naples and Milan. This Affair having been duly weigh'd, it was unanimouſly reſolved in the Senate, to acknowledge that Prince for King of Spain, giving to his Majeſty all the Titles that are due to him as ſuch, and to receive him in that Quality, whenever he ſhall paſs through the Territories be'onging to this Republick. We are advis'd from Rome, that the Pope has receiv'd a Letter from his Nuncio at Barcelona, wherein that Miniſter gives an Account of his kind Reception there, and of the great Eſteem and Reſpect he obſerv'd in his Catholick Majeſty for the Perſon of the Pope, and his Zeal for the Papacy. Several Congregations have been lately held at Rome, in one of which the Pope aſſiſted on Friday laſt, with Thirteen of the moſt conſiderable Cardinals. The Conſult held for four hours, and the Reſolutions taken, having been firſt Engroſs'd and Seal'd up, were left in the Hands of Cardinal Mareſcotti. We are here under ſome Apprehenſions for Signior Mocenigo, the Bailo at Conſtantinople. Our Advices from Dalmatia tell us, he is confin'd by the Turks; but others ſay, that upon ſuſpicion that they had a Deſign to Impriſon him he fled into the Houſe of Sir Robert Sutton, the Queen of Great Britain's Ambaſſador at the Port. Tho' theſe Reports vary, and are uncertain, yet, foraſmuch as the Senate have receiv'd no Letters from him for a conſiderable time, we fear there are ſome Grounds for them. A Britiſh Privateer has taken a French Tartane laden with Oil, and ſent her into this Port.

Hanover, Sept. 29. N. S. We have lately had Letters from Bender, confirming the Particulars we receiv'd before from Vienna and Conſtantinople, without informing us whether his Suediſh Majeſty is diſpos'd to accept of the free Paſſage ſtipulated for him in the late Treaty of Peace, or if he is rather inclin'd to continue longer at Bender, in hopes of obtaining ſome further Aſſiſtance from the Port. In the mean time we hear, the Czar of Muſcovy has declar'd, that he will not Surrender Aſoph whilſt that Prince is ſuffer'd to continue in the Grand Signior's Dominions; nor think himſelf oblig'd to grant his Majeſty a free Paſſage into his own Territories, if the Guard appointed to Conduct him exceeds Five thouſand Men. Upon Advice that his Czariſh Majeſty is arriv'd at the Baths at Carlsbadt, the Hereditary Prince of Muſcovy is ſet out from Wolfenbuttel, in order to wait upon his Father. They write from Pomerania, of the Eighteenth Inſtant, That the Danes had taken, in the Road of Carlſcron, Thirty Tranſports, deſign'd to receive the Suediſh Cavalry on Board. Theſe Advices are confirm'd by Letters of the Twentieth from Roſtock, which add, that the Allies were inclinable to attack the Iſle of Rugen, and were making the neceſſary Diſpoſitions accordingly; but, that it wou'd require a Months time to prepare ev'ry thing requiſite for ſuch an Attempt.

Camp near Bouchain, Octob. 1. N. S. We continue to work on the Reparations of Bouchain with all poſſible Diligence; but as the vigorous Attack of that Place has occaſion'd extraordinary Damages in the Fortifications, the Engineers do ſtill require near Twenty Days to put them into a poſture of Defence: during which time we are in no danger of ſuffering for want of Forage; the Neighbouring Country having already brought in the quantities they propos'd to St. Amand and Marchienne; and the States of Flanders have ſent Deputies to acquaint his Grace the Duke of Marlborough, that they will ſupply what ſhall be further neceſſary for the time we ſhall be oblig'd to continue in this Camp. The Enemy having ſent conſiderable Detachments of Horſe to Maubeuge, and other Poſts along the Sambre, Ten Squadrons were detatch'd Yeſterday from our Army to Mons, in order to aſſiſt the Troops in Garriſon there, in protecting the Country of Haynault, and to prevent any Deſign the Enemy may have form'd to interrupt our erecting Magazines on that ſide. Yeſterday a Party of our Horſe brought in a Hundred Priſoners taken near Monſieur d'Abergotti's Entrenchment on the other ſide the Senſet.

Hague, Octob. 2. N. S. On the Twenty-ninth of the laſt Month the Earl of Albermarle, and Monſieur Hymen, were in Conference with the States-General. His Lordſhip propos'd to have ſet out in his return to the Army, Yeſterday in the Morning; but his Departure is put off for ſome Days, ſo that it is not certainly known when he will leave this Place. Monſieur Vegelin, one of the Deputies of the States was expected here from the Army; but his Journey hither has been countermanded, and the Sentiments of this State relating to the Diſpoſition of the Forces this Winter, and the intended Operations of the Spring, have been ſent from hence by an Expreſs to his Grace the Duke of Marlborough. We are advis'd from Heuſden, a Place about Twelve Leagues from hence, that Two thouſand Men, belonging to the Garriſon of Namur, lately made an Incurſion into thoſe Parts, and having pillaged ſome Villages, they took ſeveral Hoſtages with them, as a Security for the Payment of a hundred and fifty thouſand Crowns, demanded of the Inhabitants in the open Country. They write from Francfort, that there are two or three Points of Importance remaining to be regulated, before they can proceed to the Election of an Emperor; however, as the ſeveral Parties concern'd, uſe all the neceſſary Diſpatch
